"I challenge Colonel Marshall," he cried, "to disprove that article."

The speaker went on to show by official records that Stuart was not responsible for the Gettysburg disaster.

Iffic elements of Stuart's greatness, said Major McClellan, were very much the same as those which bring success in the ordinary walks of life. He spoke of Stuart's bravery and the confidence which he inspired in others; his military genius, and his splendid opportunity to achieve greatness, followed as he was by a band of men of matchless valor.

In closing, Major McClellan paid a tribute to Lee Camp's great work and extended the greetings of the Confederate veterans of Kentucky.

Captain George Waters, commander of Battery C, one of the companies of this sub-post of Fortress Monroe, arrived to-day from Phoenixville, Pa., where he has been for the last fortnight recruiting men for his battery.

Captain Waters' return was hastened by the action taken by his men in his absence in drawing up a set of resolution-demanding that he resign as commandant of Battery C, alleging, as reason for this step, "Drunkenness and incompetency." The men gave, him seventy-two hours in which to act, and when seen to-day in regard to the matter. Captain Waters said: "I intend to court-martial every man who signed the resolutions."

Captain Barclay H. Warburton, of Battery A, is in command of the camp, and it is probable that he will order the court-martial. If Captain Waters' threat is carried out seventy-six of his men will be tried by the court, as that number signed the resolutions, and they are the original members of the company.

It looks as if there wal be trouble, for the men threaten to lay their grievances before the War Department. There is bad feeling existing between Batteries A and C. The men in the latter are impattent to be ordered to Cuba, and claim that Captain Warburton, who is a sonin-law of John Wanamaker, by reason of his political influence has been able to keep the batteries at a bomb-proof post, alleging that he does not wish to be in actual service.

Discharges Ordered.

Discharges Ordered.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—Special.—Discharges from the army have been ordered as follows: Privates Claude R. Noel, Company E. Third Virginia; Norman C. Napler, Company H. Fourth Virginia; Pleasant J. Lankford, Company A. Second North Carolina.

Captain Charles L. Davis, Tenth Infantry, regulars, has been ordered to report in person to the Governor of North Carolina, for duty pertaining to the National Guard, of that State, the well known cooking expert, lecturer and authority on pure food, says: "Cottolene is a pure and unadulterated article, and a much more healthful product than lard, and as

as pure vegetable on combined with want and is unequaled for shortening and frying purposes. It makes your food light, appetizing, digestible.

One man won fifty dollars, while others lost every cent of their money. The first drunkenness which has yet occurred in camp, was brought to light last night, when three men, all of them very much intoxicated, were arrested on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. One of them upon being put in the guard tent in a fit of rage cut himself in the breast with a pocket knife. The wound inflicted, however, was only a slight one.

adelphia, and are expected to arrive here within a few days. The corapany has the required number of musicians, and after the arrival of the instruments and a little practice will have as good a band as their way. Colonel Baker of the Second Virginia is Colonel Baker of the Second Virginia is loud in his praises of the treatment that his regimnet has received since arriving here. "Why, they seem to be just as hospitable as Virginians," he said. "and in fact, I wouldn't know but what they were all Virginians. Yes, sir, we have been treated splendidly. And I had rather be in camp here than at Richmond. It gets a little warm in the morning, but then there is a breeze nearly all of the time, and we can't say that at home. Jackson-nospitality. The Second Virginia has had erected : very substantial guard house, built of wood. It will serve as a very substantial jail for refractory soldiers. Several of the regiments in camp, not-the big tents now in use to be left be-hind. The Second Virginia was also sup-plied with a large quantity of clothing, while in the Fourth Virginia about fifty Hunt ovens were delivered for use. About 150 pairs of shoes and 500 leggings were issued to the Forty-ninth Iowa Regiment. Private Duffel of Company E. Second Virginia, has been made regimental pay-master.
